

Cyber Liability – GoTeam

Time Impacts Risk Reduction

When your business has been impacted by a cyber-attack your ability to respond in a timely manner makes all the difference. Lessons learned from previous data breaches show that once your data has been exposed, it is too late to wonder what to do. You need to respond immediately in an effort to reduce business interruption and financial impact.

Provencher & Companies seasoned experts and partners understand the time sensitive nature of these unexpected business impacts. A proper first response is crucial to reduce losses and liability!

To reduce the severity of interruption requires timely response, a well-defined action plan, broad communications and seamless execution across a collaborative team skilled in multiple disciplines. It requires GoTeam from Provencher & Company.

- The insured's business may be shut down due to the attack / breach
- Many states have imposed very tight timelines for reporting a breach of personal information collected on their customers
- Forensic IT Investigation needs to be conducted immediately to establish cause and potential Liability. This is critical to a well-prepared defense
- A Breach Coach needs to be assigned immediately to guide and protect the investigation and information gathered

The ability to quickly evaluate, support, triage and remediate after FNOL is a critical to minimizing risk, claims and supporting clients in an appropriate manner
